Understanding the 2014 AQA English GCSE Format

Before delving into specific predictions, it's crucial to understand the overall structure of the 2014 AQA English GCSE. The exam is divided into two main components: English Language and English Literature. Each assesses different skills, but both emphasize critical analysis, understanding of texts, and clear expression.

English Language

- Paper 1: Explorations in Creative Reading and Writing
- Paper 2: Writers' Viewpoints and Perspectives

English Literature

- Exploring Modern Texts (e.g., Macbeth, An Inspector Calls)
- Studying 19th-Century Novel (e.g., A Christmas Carol, Jekyll and Hyde)

Predictions for 2014 will focus on the types of questions likely to appear in these papers, based on trends and past papers.

Predicted Question Types and Focus Areas

English Language Paper 1: Creative and Descriptive Writing

Students should expect to be asked to produce a piece of creative writing, such as a story or descriptive piece, based on a given stimulus. Practice in crafting engaging narratives and vivid descriptions will be essential.

- Prediction: Prompts may revolve around contemporary themes or personal experiences, encouraging originality and imagination.
- Focus Tip: Develop a range of story ideas and descriptive techniques to respond flexibly to various prompts.

English Language Paper 2: Analyzing Viewpoints and Perspectives

This section tests comprehension and analysis skills through non-fiction texts, such as articles, essays, or speeches.

- Prediction: Expect texts relating to social issues, current affairs, or moral debates to reflect contemporary concerns.
- Focus Tip: Practice extracting viewpoints, evaluating arguments, and supporting responses with evidence.

English Literature Paper 1: Modern Texts

Questions will likely focus on themes, character analysis, and context within studied modern texts like "An Inspector Calls" and "Macbeth".

- Prediction: Expect extract-based questions coupled with essay prompts that require thematic or character analysis.
- Focus Tip: Study key quotations and themes thoroughly, and practice linking textual evidence to broader interpretations.

English Literature Paper 2: 19th-Century Novels

This paper generally involves exploring themes, characters, and contexts in classic texts such as "A Christmas Carol" or "Jekyll and Hyde".

- Prediction: Questions may ask about the social or historical context influencing the narrative, or about moral messages.
- Focus Tip: Understand the historical background and how it shapes the story, characters, and themes.

Key Themes and Texts to Focus On

While specific questions can vary, certain themes and texts are likely to be emphasized given their popularity and relevance.

Modern Texts

- "An Inspector Calls": Themes of social responsibility, guilt, and morality.
- "Macbeth": Power, ambition, fate, and guilt.

19th-Century Novels

- "A Christmas Carol": Morality, redemption, and social inequality.
- "Jekyll and Hyde": Duality of human nature, science, and morality.

Poetry and Language Techniques

In addition to prose and drama, poetry questions may focus on language, form, and context. Be prepared to analyze poetic devices such as imagery, metaphor, and rhythm.

- Expect questions that ask you to compare poems or interpret their themes.
- Practice annotating poems for devices and themes.
